Other Provisions

When the life insurance terminates—Termination will occur: a) at such time as the participant is not a member of a sponsoring Association, b) if the Group Policy terminates, or c) if the member withdraws from the Plan by so electing or by failure to pay the required contributions. Dependent Child Coverage under your State Bar of Texas Member Term Life coverage will terminate under any of the following conditions: your State Bar of Texas Member Term Life coverage terminates for the covered member; the child no longer qualifies as an eligible dependent; your State Bar of Texas Member Term Life coverage itself is terminated; or the provision in the policy for the coverage terminates.

Conversion rights—If your State Bar of Texas Member Term Life coverage terminates, the member has the privilege of converting the amount to a Prudential individual life insurance policy. The member can get this life insurance protection without taking a medical examination or answering health questions. To convert, a member must apply within the 31-day period after the life insurance terminates, requesting any individual life insurance policy then customarily issued by Prudential except term life insurance (although preliminary term life insurance for up to one year may be included) or a policy containing disability or other supplementary benefits. The converted policy will be effective at the end of the 31-day period, and the premiums will be the same as the member would ordinarily pay on applying for an individual policy at that time. If death occurs within this 31-day period, that amount of life insurance under the Plan, which the member was entitled to convert, will be paid whether or not the member has applied for conversion. If the insurance for a dependent child terminates for any of the reasons stated, all or part of the Dependent Child Coverage may be converted to an individual life insurance policy within 31 days of such termination. No evidence of insurability will be required.

Evidence of Insurability—Many members will apply for coverage without the need for medical exams or tests. Depending on the amount of coverage applied for, and the medical history disclosed in the application, it may be necessary for Prudential to order a physical exam, a blood test, an ECG, or medical records from your physician.
